1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lester.

The scope of the claims reads on the prior art apparatus. In Lester, the tip of the reaction plunger 15 moves into the mold, which consists of mold parts 10 and 11, during casting process. The entire article formed from the entire solidified molten metal is the casting. Thus, the tip of the reaction plunger is one of the two walls that is movable into the mold and is configured to partially determine surface shape of the casting, i.e. the molded article 12.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 1-2, assuming that the part of the casting of Lester formed in the space between the wall of plunger 15 in position E and the wall of plunger 17 in the position A is not considered to be a casting, is also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lester and further in view of CH 661,883 and vice versa.

Lester shows to deliver molten metal through moving two opposed pistons in the injection cylinder. The apparatus of Lester is capable of providing various volume of molten metal needed for different castings. CH '883 shows to use one of the two opposed pistons to define a part of mold cavity such that to eliminate the use of sprue and thereby simplifying the die design. It would have been obvious to use one of piston to define the mold cavity as taught by CH '883 in the apparatus of Lester in view of the advantage. It would also obvious to use the two opposed pistons movable within the chamber of injection cylinder for varying the volume of the molten metal for casting different castings as taught by Lester in the apparatus of CH '883 in view of the advantage.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 7/8/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In page 6, 2nd paragraph of the remarks applicant stated that CH '883 does not show two movable walls of the injection chamber 3 for varying or displacing the volume form between them. However, Lester shows that feature to be conventional. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
